MONDAY MORNING JANUARY 9 1865

News of To Day

The wires have brought us nothing of great moment and the dispatches are only of general interest. We hear of the bitterness of the quarrel between the factions in Richmond for and against Jeff Davis and they seem to consider the movements of Sherman more important than any other in progress. It is reported that he has cut off a great source of the Richmond supplies by destroying their communication with the Gulf Railroad by which cattle were sent from Florida and Alabama. Savannah is proving to be the most sensible city captured yet and anxious and willing to restore peace and Union.

We have to day some particulars of the pirate Shenandoah.

Kentucky is talking seriously of emancipation and Governor Bramlette rejoices greatly in his message over the Union successes achieved. The glorious old State may have voted for McClellan but she meant Union all the while, and has provided seventy thousand soldiers for our army.

Ben Butler is attempting to shift the failure of the Wilmington expedition upon Admiral Porter.

The Richmond papers own that the cannonade upon Fort Fisher was the severest ever experienced in the annals of war.

The pursuit of Hood is at last abandoned, and what is left of him has crossed the Tennessee river. His loss amounts to over half his army.

Aspirants and Incumbents

The election is no sooner over than politicians commence to move in the usual eccentric orbits that they are supposed to travel when there are offices to be bestowed. True this administration is "to be continued," and the battle is not exactly one between the "outs" and the "ins," but between aspirants and incumbents.

The OREGONIAN has no claims to urge, no candidates to work for, no personal aspirations to interfere with others, or to be interfered with and we therefore intend to say our say generally and independently. In the matters of office holding it is seldom that the best men are put into station. The word has become an adage that "to the victors belong the spoils," and it is too frequently the case that the most clamorous of the victors receive the most valuable appointments.

This business of office seeking has become a crying sin in our nation. This idea of "spoils" is often the ruling principle and the biting sarcasm of the expression that parties are held together by the "cohesive power of public plunder" is too much a truth to be ignored by any one.

Believing that the Union party possesses great and vital principles, that in doing our duty in supporting the Government in the present struggle we are aiding the cause of God and humanity everywhere, that peace will soon dawn on us as a people, we desire that the party in power should deserve favorable mention on the page of history by a course honorable, consistent and lenient; and by being represented abroad and at home by the best men it contains placed in public station.

The common lust of office that pervades the nation is the curse that has brought upon us tremendous punishment. Our public men have truckled to power, have too often climbed into office by a betrayal of principle to accomplish it.

There is a divinity that shapes the ends of nations as well as of men. There is something of respect due from all human governments and powers to Divine commands and the nation that blindly rushes on, reckless of consequences regardless of purity and uprightness, may expect to suffer as we now suffer, unless the history of the future differs from the history of the past, as the past is written and handed down to us. When this war shall have ended, if it have left behind it a well earned lesson, teaching us to discard the muddy pool of political strife, making the people wise enough to act understandingly, it will not have failed of its mission and will not have been suffered and endured in vain. So far as offices among us are concerned let us have good men, selected on account of their capacity and private worth, appointed, if any changes are to be made.

While the matter of this article pertains to our public affairs at all times it is especially induced at present by a communication from Astoria in one of the most influential papers of the State, bearing ear marks that leave little doubt as to its paternity, and scurrilous enough in its tone to satisfy anybody that the author has an axe to grind, and doesn't intend to neglect the operation. We have no recommendations to make concerning the collectorship at Astoria and we are simply indifferent upon the question, but we have little doubt as to the authorship of the communication we refer to, and we desire to call attention to it and invite the world to agree or disagree with our opinion. If anybody wants an office in this State it is at least his privilege to try for it, and the wholesale abuse that so frequently and gratuitously is launched forth upon any man who wants what another also wants is a strong indication that the views expressed above are both necessary and wholesome.

Let those who want office strive for it honorably, and let the Union party be free from using billingsgate abuse to any person whatever and much less towards its own members. It is simply calculated to lay it open to the ridicule and sneers of its opponents, and does evil only. All such bickerings have their influence in the future, and tend to weaken our strength and unity. Our mission is not all accomplished. Our antagonists claim that they will be victorious another year and they assuredly will if we forget that our aim is not to accomplish individual aggrandizement but to strive to establish great principles and educate the people to their support.

WE TOLD YOU SO. — Some two months since before the good people of Corvallis had the present editor to champion them we called attention to the fact that freight was being hauled from Yaquina Bay to Corvallis and unless we had a railroad from here to the latter place operations this place would lose by it. Now the Corvallis Gazette has discovered the same [illegible] and seems to consider it original. Examine [illegible] Mr. [illegible] though we don't accept his figures as any ways accurate in relation [illegible]

SUSPENDED. —The work on the Corvallis and Yaquina Bay Wagon Road has been suspended in consequence of inclement weather. — [illegible] Journal

GIVING 'M' SEMI THE 'SLIP.' — THRILLING ADVENTURE. — Captain N. [illegible] Badger, of [illegible] Powell's cavalry division in Sheridan's army, having been trapped by Mosby's guerillas on the 2d of November [illegible] valuable which he had about him and hurried away into the Blue Ridge Mountains [illegible] with nine more of our men who had been taken at different times.

All right, said the captain after they [illegible]

[illegible]

"You're another," said the Captain as he seized the musket and planting his foot in the rebel's paunch at the same instant doubled him up and sent him wheeling into the large fire in front of him to the great consternation of the rest of the guard, who instantly rushed to his relief without thinking of what was intended.

Upon them [illegible] the [illegible] ball from his captured musket through the nearest man and the bayonet through another, and with one bound into the darkness, escaped.

His men were not less adroit in taking advantage of the confusion: they dashed up, surprised the rebels, snatched their muskets from them and killing three of them on the spot, wounded several others, and every man of them escaped unhurt.

Captain Badger had not yet arrived within our lines at last accounts but most of his men were in and report that he is safe in the mountains and carefully working his way through by night.

IRON-CLAD MONITORS BEING BUILT AT ST. LOUIS — THEIR ENORMOUS GUNS. — The St. Louis Republican of recent date remarks:

There are building in our midst two of the most formidable engines of destruction known in modern warfare. While the Eastern States, provided with most skillful artificers in ship-building, have seemed to centre all the iron clad interests, the work on the two Monitors Etlah and Shiloh has been quietly progressing and now approaches completion. The contractors C. W. McCord for the former and George C. Bestor for the latter in the face of the difficulties that a new work in a section of the country where the iron interest is as yet undeveloped always encounters have carried on their work in a manner that cannot fail to give not only satisfaction to the Government but also reflect the utmost credit on the skill of our Western workmen. A look at the vessels as they now lay on the stocks bears ample testimony of how ably their duties have been performed and speaks their best praise. That some idea of the magnitude of the work may be gained a description of the vessels may not be amiss. The Etlah and Shiloh are light draft Monitors, Ericsson turrets, built under the supervision of D. G. Wells, engineer on behalf of the Government. They each carry two guns—one 11 inch Dahlgren and one 160-pound rifle Parrott. Extreme length, 225 feet, breadth of beam 45 feet, depth of hold 11 feet, thickness of side armor three inches, thickness of deck armor one inch, internal diameter of turret 26 feet, thickness of turret eight inches, internal diameter of pilot house six feet, thickness of pilot house ten inches, number of motive engines two, diameter of cylinders, 22 inches, length of stroke 30 inches, propellers two, diameter of propellers nine feet.

THE OPHIR MINE IN HOT WATER — OR HOT WATER IN THE MINE. — The Virginia City, Nev., Enterprise of 24th December says:

It would seem to be the fate of the Ophir Company to be more plagued with water than any company in our mines. They had just succeeded in pumping out the last great influx and had begun drifting again when night before last, another huge subterranean reservoir was tapped. It was struck at a height of about 50 feet above the shaft and rushed in in such volumes that it was with difficulty that the workmen were able to escape being overwhelmed or drowned. The water had risen yesterday morning to the height of 150 feet. What is most singular is the fact that the water is so hot that to hold one's hand in it is painful. The rush of water was doubtless from a "pocket," and we presume will shortly be exhausted by a diligent use of the pumps.

NEW YEAR'S DAY. —We hope to see the day observed by our citizens in the usual festive mode. Let business be suspended as far as practicable and the day given up to making calls, and exchanging congratulations with each other. — Corvallis Gazette.

Now that's strange advice for our Reverend friend to give his people. Business is suspended every Sabbath in Albany, and our ministers tell us instead of making calls and exchanging congratulations it is our duty to attend church. We presume however that a stroll through the "McAdamized" street and along the well [illegible] plank side walks of Corvallis is such a temptation that it is difficult to restrain the people from making calls even on the Sabbath. — Journal.

EFFICIENCY OF NEGRO SOLDIERS. —Col. Osband commanding a colored regiment at Vicksburg, has recently returned to that city from a twelve days' scout with a regiment of colored troops and four pieces of artillery. The Colonel sums up the result of this expedition as follows:

"Captured 1,000 beef cattle, 450 horses and mules, 7 army wagons and mules; burned $700,000 worth of cotton stores at Woodville; cut and destroyed the telegraph for miles; captured half dozen mails with important information, also 250 stand of small arms, 2 pieces of artillery, 1 caisson, 250 rounds fixed ammunition, 52 prisoners of war, 1 captain and 2 lieutenants killed, 58 rebels including 1 major and 1 lieutenant, and only lost 2 killed and slightly wounded."

GREAT MEN [illegible] TO WEIGH [illegible] — McClellan is a snug built little fellow weighing about [illegible] pounds. [illegible] the weight of the officers of the Revolutionary army as weighed at West Point in 1778: General Washington 209 pounds, General Lincoln 224, General Knox 280, General [illegible], General Greaton 166, Colonel Swift 219, Colonel Michael Jackson 252, Colonel Henry Jackson 238, Lieutenant Colonel Huntington 212, [illegible] 182, and Lieutenant Colonel Humphrey [illegible]

NEW [illegible] CITY OFFICERS. — At the election [illegible] Corvallis [illegible] the following [illegible] were elected: Benjamin Pillow, Mayor; D. W. [illegible] Marshal; [illegible] Councilmen [illegible] Burnett, [illegible] and J. S. Palmer [illegible] and J. [illegible] — Gazette.

AGENT AT THE DALLES. — Mr. [illegible] Waldron of Dalles is appointed Agent for the OREGONIAN at that place and is authorized to receive and receipt for subscriptions. Mr. Waldron will attend to any business we may have at that point except the delivery of the DAILY by the carrier which will be separate and distinct from the regular agency.

Further about Wilmington.

A Wilmington correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch says [illegible]

From Richmond Papers.

[illegible] gunboat and four or five large were lost but nearly all the persons on board escaped.

New York, Jan 6. — The Richmond [illegible] proposes to declare the ports of the Northern States under blockade and [illegible] to capture and [illegible] the Confederacy [illegible]

[illegible]

The Richmond Sentinel says that the North is becoming bankrupt by which the South is sure to gain its independence.

Rebel dispatches show that the feud between the Jeff Davis and anti-Jeff Davis factions is constantly becoming more sanguinary. [illegible] Davis accuse him in the most open and vehement manner of being the cause of all the [illegible] They in turn are charged by Jeff's organ with [illegible]

The Richmond Dispatch of the 4th says: We shall not be surprised at any moment to learn that Sherman is on the march.

The Sentinel urges an alteration of the railroad system in Georgia [illegible] close to Sherman's army and [illegible]

New York, Dec 7. — Persons recently from the South think that the recent articles in Richmond papers on the subject of the foreign [illegible] the temper of the people. The majority of the people, it is thought, will oppose the plan and prefer a union [illegible] Union. Southern sympathizers say that the articles will be the cause of much [illegible] lack of much confidence in the conduct of Jeff Davis.

Emancipation in Kentucky.

Cairo, Jan [illegible] — There was a resolution introduced in both houses of the Kentucky Legislature yesterday declaring for the immediate abolition of slavery. Gov. Bramlette in a message recommends gradual emancipation and the ultimate removal of slavery. He rejoices over and thanks Sherman and Thomas for their victories and he denounces the arrest of Col. Wolford and Lieutenant Gov. Jacob. He says his object in [illegible] to regulate [illegible] save the institution, but the people of Kentucky from [illegible] Kentucky has provided nearly 70,000 soldiers for the United States army.

Sherman's Operations.

New York, Jan [illegible] — It would appear that the destruction of the Gulf Railroad by Sherman has struck a staggering blow at Richmond.

The Post has seen a private letter from a citizen which states that on the authority of an officer of the Gulf Railroad that it supplied Lee's army up to the time it was broken with 1,000 head of cattle per week, the cattle coming from Florida and Southern Alabama. [illegible] Savannah, that Lee has not thirty days supplies on hand.

Baltimore, Jan 6. — The Baltimore [illegible] Hilton Head [illegible] yesterday with Col. [illegible] bearer of dispatches from Gen. Sherman. Sherman's army was resting and preparing for a great campaign. Kilpatrick was actively watching Hardee.

Pirate Shenandoah.

The Captain of the ship [illegible] captured and burned by the pirate Shenandoah, says that the pirate is not armed for fighting [illegible] for the destruction of ships. She was purchased in England at nearly twice her value with the understanding that she was to be fitted as a pirate. She is 1,100 tons burthen and can run about eleven knots per hour. Her crew consists of forty three men, nearly all Englishmen.

Lee's Movements.

The Herald's Washington correspondent says:

It is rumored that Lee had been placed in command of all the [illegible]

New York, Jan [illegible] — [illegible] Aspinwall was totally lost November [illegible] Marguerite. The cargo was saved in a damaged condition.

[illegible] from New York [illegible] Elizabeth [illegible] The officers, crew and passengers were taken off by a fisherman and have arrived here. Four lives were lost.

Campaign in Tennessee.

New York, Jan 6. — Jan 7 [illegible]

[illegible]

Charleston and Savannah.

New York [illegible]

A Washington letter says that the entire lot of cotton captured at Savannah [illegible] England. [illegible]

[illegible] government Agent at Savannah. Savannah will [illegible] that Grant can be held in check [illegible]

Miscellaneous

WASHINGTON, Jan [illegible] — A letter from London [illegible] the cavalry force from Sheridan's army [illegible] of Upperville [illegible]

[illegible] Considerable surprise [illegible] to learn of the Senate [illegible] of the [illegible] treaty.

AFFAIRS IN NORTHWESTERN MEXICO. — A correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin writing under date of [illegible] December 10th speaking of the evacuation of that city by the French [illegible]

[illegible]

The news from the interior is not very encouraging for the imperial rule but as it gives but a [illegible] [illegible] had retired to Tuxpan which [illegible] and [illegible] had been withdrawn with Puebla.

In the State of Oajaca Porfirio Diaz was pressing every man in the army capable of carrying arms. In one village the women had to bury the dead because no male inhabitants had remained. While Diaz was laying waste the country to prevent the French army from following him [illegible] burning the corn fields and destroying the crops and the cities were laid under heavy contributions. Manuel Gonzales carried on the war on his own private account picking up all travelers and putting them on ransom. People have become there so [illegible] that the Virgin of [illegible] who enjoyed general veneration, has been robbed of her splendid cloak which was estimated at half a million of dollars for the number of pearls and precious stones which formed the embroidery.

AN UNFORTUNATE AFFAIR.—We have for some time hesitated to notice rumors that have been current on the street, to the effect that a gentleman whose character in the past has been irreproachable, whose connections are the most respectable, and whose position as a preacher and a teacher near this city for several years past, have earned the respect and confidence of this community has been guilty of appropriating valuable books the property of Messrs J. L. Parrish & Co. and Mr. Charles Barrett book sellers. The books were undoubtedly taken but it was after an inspection of them and an expressed wish to purchase and since the occurrence payment has been made in full and with which the firm above named were satisfied that no crime was intended and that the matter would be dropped. On Friday last, however, warrants were issued and Mr C. H. Hall was arrested on the charge of theft and held to bail in the sum of $300, Mr J. L. Parrish going his security, to appear and answer at the Circuit Court. In the case of Parrish & Co. Mr Hall had been accustomed to carry home and examine any new books he desired to and did so in this instance, in the full sense of the principal, and Mr Parrish is satisfied that no evil intention existed. In the other case we cannot state the particulars, and would not if we could as the matter comes up soon before the Courts. We regret that we cannot give a contradiction to these reports, but while it seems to us that the matter appears in its present phase something like a persecution as well as prosecution, it is not possible for us to deny that Mr Hall's hesitancy to own the truth boldly—when first questioned—has made the matter assume a more serious form.

COMPANY E.—Company E, 1st Regiment Oregon Infantry, numbering 85 men, were mustered into the service of the United States on Saturday last by Lieut. Kapus, in this city. The officers of the company commissioned by Governor Gibbs are F. O. McCown Captain; J. B. Dimick First Lieutenant; J. M. Gale Second Lieutenant. The first Lieutenant, Mr Dimick, is a man of considerable military ability, having followed the rank of promotion from Corporal to Lieutenant, in a former term of service. The other appointments are merited and the company is finely organized. The non commissioned officers are as follows: Sergeants—1st, G. A. Summers; 2d, Chas. W. McCown; 3d, Glover Laird; 4th, John McShaver; 5th, Geo. Harding. Corporals—1st, I. I. Manley; 2d, Oscar Gurtig; 3d, Robert D. Grant; 4th, — Coffinbury; 5th, S. Richardson; 6th, L. S. Thomas; 7th, Wales Russell; 8th, L. Paquette.

A CELESTIAL FUNERAL.—A passer by at ten o'clock yesterday morning, might have seen on Yamhill street, a scene somewhat unfrequent as a native of the "flowery land" was being born to her long home. Securing four or five carriages and seated in and on them were the friends of the deceased, who as they started cast from them small pieces of yellow paper 2½ by 6 inches continuing in this wise to the end of their journey. Returning, a small paper fire was built and being reduced to ashes some live chickens were procured and held by their backs until their wings fanned away the ashes. This being accomplished each selected a green bough and departed, at the same time each and all uttering a feigned cry. The "melican" man, as is usual on such occasions, occupied all the seeing ground and provoked grief with laughter as the "celestial" voices were "hymning out their souls."

VALENTINE'S DAY.—If anybody supposed that the closing of a book store on Sunday would shut out the anxious gaze of tender hearted individuals who have in view the recurrence of Valentine's day, they are mistaken. Especially is the case opposite, if, like neighbor Mc., every pane of the window and doors is made to contain a plate that would throw the heart into a painful suspense until the piece of mortality to which it belonged could "inquire within." Although more than a month distant innumerable selections were picked out as the ideal for the event, yesterday—at least one might judge so, by the anxiety of the crowd which thronged the sidewalk in front of Mc.'s premises.

THEATRICAL.—The slack attendance at Willamette Theatre of a month since, we are pleased to see is beginning to change off for better houses. The audience on Saturday night was quite liberal, and the good plays offered for the evening were well received. One thing very important is presented to our mind every time we visit the Theatre, and that is: the want of a more suitable building. The investment of a few thousand dollars in a respectable Theatre building would provide infinitely more attraction for the patrons of the play and bring larger dividends both to the lessee and owner. To night there will be no performance. To morrow night Mrs Julia Dean Hayne takes a farewell benefit.

THE STEAMER JOHN H. COUCH.—Captain J. O. VanBergen assumes command of this fast side wheel steamer, under the new management of Capt. J. C. Ainsworth. Richard Hoyt has been assigned the position of Purser. Mr Wm. Rickards, the former able steward, has been retained, and so also have the remainder of those employed by Capt. Holman. The steamer has won much favor on the line between this place and Astoria, for punctuality in carrying the mail and passengers, and we predict will continue in the service as efficient as ever.

CHAPEL EXERCISES.—The soldiers of Captain McCown's Company were addressed by Rev. J. L. Parrish at their place of rendezvous yesterday, in a sermon full of patriotism and religious sentiment, which was received with marked attention. The Regiments of Oregon are so scattered by Companies that no regular Chaplain was ever appointed, and it is seldom the privileges of religious instruction are enjoyed by the soldiers, unless under circumstances of situation, like the above.

IN LIBBY PRISON.—Mr. George Austin, brother of R. D. and Cornelius Austin of this city, and a former war correspondent of the Oregon Daily Times, has been taken by the rebels to Libby Prison. He was recently captured, with some others on Sherman's march through Georgia. Mr Austin was First Lieutenant of his Company in the Fifteenth Illinois regiment, which was a veteran regiment. The information is derived from private letters to members of the family residing here.

ACCIDENT.—A young daughter of Mr Dierdorff, residing some fourteen miles east of Portland while playing in a swing had the misfortune to dislocate her thigh bone on Thursday last. She was brought to this city and on Sunday morning the dislocation was reduced by Drs. Chapman & Watkins.

OYSTER SUPPER.—The ladies of the M. E. Church propose to give an Oyster Supper at the late armory of Company A, on Front street between Yamhill and Taylor streets, to morrow evening, the proceeds to go in aid of the erection of a new church edifice.

TWELVE MORE.—There were twelve men among those mustered on Saturday in Company E, who were enlisted from Multnomah county. They received the first instalment of county bounty from the hands of Mr. Coulson as provided by order of the Commissioner's Court.

REAL ESTATE.—The "Loring Farm" situate in the vicinity of this city and containing 30 acres of ground was sold to the highest bidder at public auction by C. W. W. Chapman on Saturday last, for the sum of $[illegible] in legal tender. Mr Arthur Fay was the purchaser.

HOSPITAL STORES.—We are requested by Capt. McCown to tender his thanks, and the [illegible] of Company E, to the ladies of Oregon City for the generous supplies of delicacies forwarded for the use of the indisposed members of the company in hospital. The packages were very acceptable.

CIRCUIT COURT.—The special term of Circuit Court, Judge Shattuck presiding, set for January 9th, will convene at the hour of 10 A. M. to-day. A list of law and chancery causes on the docket was published by us on Saturday.

MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.—If we purchase a house to live in, we are sure to want all the "modern improvements" and in a descending scale, in all our purchases we want the same. This fact applies with peculiar force to that important accessory to a household of the present day—a sewing machine. When our fair readers purchase one of these they want one, of course with the "modern improvements"—they want one to embroider as well as sew with the machine, for they never would be satisfied to make their dresses on the machine and then slowly put on the embroidery by hand, nor need they, for with Grover and Baker's celebrated machine they can do both and with an ease and rapidity astonishing to behold.

DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effect. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite and acts like a charm upon the spirits. For dyspepsia, depression after eating, bilious cholic, wind cholic, spasms of the stomach, sick and nervous head-ache, chills and fever, tremens, prostration, and all the complaints special to the feebler sex, the Bitters are earnestly recommended by thousands who have witnessed their superior efficacy in such cases. Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere. nov12d&w

Le Doyen's Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock AND IODINE ALTERATIVE is the only remedy for invigorating a debilitated and broken down constitution. Persons of scrofulous habit, suffering from impure blood, nervous trembling, impaired digestion, liver disease, lost vitality, should give this great blood purifier a trial. All rheumatic diseases, constitutional complaints and organic affections are radically cured by a steady use of this medicine. oct19d3m

"A Slight Cold," Coughs.—Few are aware of the importance of checking a Cough or "SLIGHT COLD" in its first stage; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon attacks the lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" give sure and almost immediate relief. Military Officers and Soldiers should have them, as they can be carried in the pocket and taken as occasion requires.
REDINGTON & CO. San Francisco. Agents for the Pacific Coast.

Hope for the Afflicted.—In another part of this paper will be found the advertisement of the celebrated Institute established by Dr. J. C. YOUNG in 1850. In this age of deceit and charlatanism it is a boon to the suffering to point out to them where they are sure of obtaining the wished for relief and cure. Under the care of the skillful Doctor the sick and troubled can divest themselves of their burdens of pain and shame, lay aside their cross and secure health and happiness. If you are sick or in trouble do not hesitate. Read the advertisement and follow the advice. Do not forget the number and the manner of directing your letter. HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, rectifies and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.
Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious blood and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and [illegible] the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters
Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.
The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.
Debility from whatever cause arising, may be cured, strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A Word to the Aged!
In the decline of life, the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.
As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females:
Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and enlivens the depressed mental powers, as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

A Greenback Case!

HAVING BEEN COMPELLED TO ACCEPT OF Legal Tender Notes at par since the 17th day of December 1863, for the rent of my handsome Brick Store, corner of Morrison and Front streets, I feel compelled to announce for the benefit of the public at large, that leased the building of me on the 17th day of February, 1862 for a term of years at which time there was no such currency in use, and it was understood the terms were CASH. Since the date above stated I have received the depreciated currency regularly under protest for the rent of the

CITY OF PARIS STORE,

Making less than two fifths of the real amount said Mayer agreed to pay. He has secured the building at a very advantageous rate, and even were he now to comply with his contract and pay in COIN, would be getting the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public what kind of a man he must be to take such undue advantage of the times to convert a few dollars to himself by LEGAL SWINDLING. The public can readily see what interest I have in such tenants. G. W. VAUGHN.

An Adventure on Beachy Head.

In the line of lofty cliffs of chalk which form the south eastern boundary of England the bold promontory known as Beachy Head is one of the most remarkable. Its elevation from the level of the sea when it lies calm in sunshine at its base is five hundred and eighty eight feet, and as the situation of the cliff is one of the most exposed along the whole line of coast, it follows that a moderate breeze suffices to send the waters chafing and foaming up its rugged face. It will be readily believed, therefore, that in a south westerly gale great waves come rolling in with indescribable fury, bursting in thunder against the stupendous wall of chalk rock and throwing sheets of foam half way up its entire height.

It was on a fine afternoon in September, in the year 18—, that three friends, young men, set out from the village of Eastbourne to walk to Beachy Head, the distance being about a mile and a half. One of the three was a collector of fossils, and he took with him the little hammer which he commonly used for breaking the lumps of chalk which so often contain specimens of antediluvian sharks' teeth, echini and shells. Arriving on the beach below the cliff, they found the sea almost calm, and wandered about for some time searching for agates and pebbles; and one of the three—the fossil hunter—found among the shingles a large spike-nail, a relic, perhaps, of one of those fearful wrecks which are not uncommon at this awful point. Perhaps he held the old superstitious opinion that it is lucky to pick up and preserve any piece of old iron. At all events, the spike-nail was safely deposited in his pocket, and he wandered on, intently searching for fossils at the base of the cliff which frowned above his head. Presently he came to that spot where a portion of the topmost strata of chalk had crumbled away and fallen like an avalanche on the beach below, forming a sloping, rugged wall, to the height of about four hundred feet, with numerous crags and fissures, which might tempt a chamois or a hunted fox to search for a pathway, but which offered no likelihood of a hold for human foot. But our narrative will, perhaps, proceed more easily and naturally in the language of the adventurer himself.

"I was so occupied with my search among the masses of chalk which lay at the foot of the cliff, that I had for a full half hour parted from my companions, and when I raised myself from my stooping posture to look for them, I was surprised to find that I had gradually climbed a good way up a narrow shelving track, which seemed to present no obstacle to my further progress. My friends were not in sight; they had probably gone up the beach beyond the projection of the headland. It was of no consequence; I should see them presently, and so I continued my ascent, finding from time to time specimens which absorbed my attention, and made me quite regardless of the increasing difficulties of my path. On a sudden, however, I was startled by the scream of a sea gull, and, looking round me, was at once aware that I had reached a point of considerable danger—that, in fact, it would be quite impossible to retrace my steps for the last twenty or thirty feet that I had mounted, and that I had no alternative but to proceed onward, in the hope of finding a track by which I could descend. In this situation I shouted to my companions, but they were not in sight, nor could I perceive any moving object on the beach, which lay far below, or on the expanse of sea, over which the sun now glared through a rising fog-bank in the west—a blood red disk resting on the horizon. No time was to be lost; it would soon be dusk, and the peril of my path would be increased. At every step my footing became more and more insecure, and when my hand loosened a fragment of chalk, down it went, rushing and bounding, and disturbing other projections in its course, till I heard the sullen, distant crash as they fell upon the beach below, and read in that sound a warning of my inevitable fate if I should lose my hold.

"But to retreat was impossible. I had now arrived at a spot where the cliff rose perpendicularly overhead. About twelve or fifteen feet up was a fringe of grass, which gave me hope that there must be a ledge of rock, which would afford a better footing. But how to reach it? How was it possible I could climb that wall? And should I fail? It was an awful moment. We talk of fervent prayer, and sometimes, when ensconced in our cushioned pew at church, we think that we are praying earnestly for blessings to be bestowed upon ourselves and others, or dangers to be averted; but ah! how very dull and languid are such prayers compared to the aspirations of him who is standing on the brink of destruction, alone, as it were, with God, while death hovers over him in the gathering shades of night! At such time he does indeed feel his entire dependence on the sustaining arm of Him who is 'mighty to save,' and his heart is strengthened and his nerves are braced while he remembers that 'the Lord is nigh unto all them that call upon him in truth.'

"My situation was becoming desperate, and I recollected the spike nail I had found on the beach and drew it from my coat pocket. With the hammer I dug out little hollows in the chalk for my feet and then, driving my spike above, I held by it while I cut the next, and thus I proceeded in my slow and most hazardous task, till at the end of an hour as nearly as I could guess, and just as the dim twilight was deepening into night's darkness, I succeeded in clambering up the grassy ledge. Success was it? I was at a height of four hundred feet, at least, and above me a cliff rose nearly two hundred feet more—its bold and rugged top rather overhanging the narrow shelf on which I was crouching, so that to climb it, even if I had nerves of steel, would have been entirely hopeless.

"At this moment my hammer, which had rendered me such good service, slipped from my hand, and fell. I dared not watch its fall down that frightful precipice, but I heard its chinking sound as it struck two or three times against projections in its course, and it sounded on my ear like a dull funeral knell.

"It was now nearly dark, but I could just perceive two or three moving figures on the beach, and I shouted to them with all my power; but the distance was great, and the noise of the waves upon the shingle must have drowned my voice. I saw them walk leisurely away, and commending myself to the care of Him who had preserved me thus far, I made up my mind to the necessity of spending the night where I was, with the faint hope that at daylight I might be able, by hoisting a signal of distress, to obtain assistance.

"But now a new difficulty began to press upon me; hunger, thirst and fatigue were taking hold of me; my hands swollen and wounded, and my fingers worn to the quick by grappling with the rock, caused excessive pain. Yet in spite of all this I began to feel a drowsiness which I dared not indulge, for there was no friendly branch or twig to which I could fasten myself, and to fall asleep on that narrow shelf of rock, would be to fall into the sleep of death.

"From this imminent peril I was preserved in a manner which, while I live, will, I trust, ever dwell in my memory and serve to raise my aspirations of gratitude to Him whose merciful providence is over all his creatures, and who in this hour of misery and distress sent me help in the form of a friendly sea-bird. A scream and then the flapping of a sea gull's wing roused me from my stupor. It came and went as the bird wheeled around me, and then sailed away far, far below. Another came and went and came again, and thus the pair hovered about me in the darkness, through the long weary hours of that fearful night, and their screaming notes, and the flapping of their long wings so near me at times, as to fan my face, became as music in my ears, bidding me look up to Him who alone had the power to save me from destruction. No doubt the poor birds had their nest in some crevice near me, and their natural efforts to scare away an invader of their territory, proved the means of safety to me. And so my eyes were 'held waking,' and I gazed on the deep blue sky, 'fretted with golden fires,' and watched the great constellations—the Bear and Orion, and Cassiopeia—as they moved around the central star, and saw the planet Venus rise from her ocean bed and walk the sky in silent beauty. I looked wistfully toward the east, and longed—O, how earnestly!—for the day.

"At length the first streak of light appeared, and from that moment my eyes were turned constantly to the beach below, in the hope of descrying some fishermen, for I knew that they were often early at work. The light gradually increased, and I was just able to distinguish objects at that distance, when, to my great joy, I saw a man close to the water's edge. Happily there was little or no wind, and I had the better chance of making myself heard. I waved my hat and my white handkerchief, and shouted, using my hands as a speaking trumpet; presently the man stopped and turning slowly around, stood gazing at me. I renewed my shout, and was answered. The sound of his voice rose distinctly to my ear, backed as I was by the reverberating rock.

"'Hold on a bit,' he said, 'and I'll tell the coast guard people.'

"Here was a ray of hope, but how could they help me? There was but one way that appeared possible—they might lower ropes from the top of the cliff; but should I have the courage or the strength required for the ascent? Yes, if it came to that, I must find resolution to meet a danger which scarcely equalled that to which I had been already exposed. I knew not how long a time elapsed, for I had neglected to wind up my watch, but it seemed some hours before I saw or heard anything of the promised assistance. At last I heard, through the still morning air, a voice above my head, and, looking up, saw the heads of two men projecting over the edge of the cliff; they were lying on their face, and were lowering a rope; it looked but a thread as it swung gently backward and forward in the morning breeze, and when at last it reached the place where I stood it was swinging more than a yard from me, because the edge of the cliff projected so much. It was shaken, however, by the men, and still swinging backward and forward. Watching an opportunity, I caught the end and drew it toward me. It had a loop tied in sailor's fashion, and I knew that would not slip; but alas! the line was but small, and I doubted if it would bear my weight—perhaps the men had underrated that—for I was near six feet high, and weighed nearly two hundred pounds. I shouted to the men at the top of my voice:

"'Will it bear me?'

"'Ay, ay,' was the answer, 'have you pluck?'

"'Ay, I hope so,' was my reply.

"'Then make it fast round your body, and swing yourself quietly off—steady, now.'

"I question whether any criminal, when submitting his neck to the gentle attentions of the hangman, ever experienced a more deadly sensation than I did at that moment. A cold damp stood on my brow, and my heart beat audibly as I passed the chord round my chest, and secured it in front with the best knot I was master of. Then I kneeled and looked up into the clear sky, and in a few fervent words commended myself to the Divine protection.

"The men above called,

"'Say when you are ready.'

"I looked up, waved my hand, and cried, 'Now!' and feeling the rope tightening and lifting me, swung myself off from the ledge, keeping my eyes fixed on the cliff as I felt myself slowly rising. Presently there was a stop, and, looking up, I found that I was still about a hundred feet from the top. I could see but one of the men's heads, and he was in the act of removing a large fragment of chalk which had been disturbed by the friction of the rope, and which, if it had fallen on my head, must have killed me instantly. He did succeed in removing it, but, as I afterwards learned, I was held by his one companion alone, while his hands were so occupied. Again I began to ascend, and hope returned. I heard the voices of my deliverers, as they gave each other the word to haul together, and I rose and rose, and at last felt my wrists seized by a friendly grasp and fell stretched upon the turf. I just heard the hurrah that was uttered and then for a time lost consciousness.

"When I revived I found myself in bed at a little inn, where, by the aid of kind and watchful care, such as English hearts and hands are ever ready to bestow, I recovered in a few hours from my perilous adventure."

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DIScovery of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to over estimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It acts upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS and GLANDULAR SYSTEM, and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless until Dr. Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton, of this city, and Prof. Booth U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use recommended to practitioners (see American Medical Monthly, July 1, 1856 page 76.)

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color, hitherto pallid, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction, even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.
